

Commercial Casting Director Stuart Stone (stonecasting.tv) is teaching a home-audition workshop about submitting successful self-tape auditions and bringing your best to zoom callbacks AND an Adult Commercial Intensive workshop, an interactive "on-camera" workshop to fine-tune your in-person and virtual auditioning skills.

I am holding these classes via zoom so that actors can pick up and discover exactly what casting is looking for from the comfort and safety of home. There is mutual benefit in training and our goal is that our workshop will help your actors book more jobs.

You can register for the two classes here:

Home-audition Workshop (This Saturday, July 18th):

My team and I have learned a lot about the nature of the self-tape over the past few months (we've seen over 10,000 submissions for new commercial castings!) and we realized that many actors simply do not know the expectations of casting and this lack of knowledge costs them jobs. Our home-audition workshop this Saturday (July 18th) is designed to bring actors up to speed on industry best practices to ensure that their auditions are being seen and noticed.

Students can register here: <https://stoneactingstudio.com/product/self-tape-audition-intensive/>

Adult Commercial Intensive (Saturday July 25th):

This "on-camera," interactive workshop is designed to help talent work on their in-person and online auditioning skills. The class gives students the opportunity to review performances and see their improvements in real time. Students can register here:

<https://stoneactingstudio.com/product/adult-commercial-intensive/>

I hope you can make it to one of them.