

Fincannon & Associates and Gil Junger Workshop

Fincannon & Associates is teaming up with Gil Junger - director of 10 THINGS I HATE ABOUT YOU - to help F&A followers master the craft of auditions! We've had the pleasure of working with Gil on many projects which is why we're so excited to help him spread the word about @breakthrucompany [instagram.com/breakthrucompany] -- what he calls his love letter to actors. The experience of working with him is a MUST for any actor and we believe it will truly change the way you approach not only acting but landing those roles!

"Over our 40 year history we've been asked many times to endorse various products and people. Gil Junger is an old friend but more importantly an old professional collaborator. His approach to the audition process is as good as we've ever seen. We are endorsing this but not profiting off of it. We believe Gil provides a service to actors of any level. If an actor is going to spend money to advance their understanding of the process, the process of finding themselves in order to find a character, we're not sure you can do any better." --Craig Fincannon

Gil is offering F&A followers an exclusive discount for his newly-launched acting & audition workshop series making the deal for you even better! Use code FACASTING75 at checkout for $75 off.

A percentage will be donated to refugee relief in Ukraine.

We are sharing this information because we are in total support of Gil's abilities and also want to help our actors. F&A will receive no compensation as we are doing this strictly for the benefit of our actors.
